

PRD: Der Die Das – Interactive Language Game

One-liner

A digital sticky-note game that helps German learners master grammatical gender (der, die, das) through visual scene exploration — no pressure, no rote memorization.

The Problem

German learners struggle with grammatical gender. Traditional methods rely on rote memorization — low retention, low engagement, high frustration. Even proven analog techniques (like labeling objects with sticky notes) are unreliable and impractical at home.

The Insight

Language teachers already recommend sticking physical labels on objects. This app is that — but digital. The drag-and-drop mechanic is the sticky note. The interaction model is intuitive because it mirrors a real-world behavior.

Target Users

- German beginners (A1–A2)
 - Expats learning German in daily life
 - Students preparing for language exams

Core Experience

The user enters a richly illustrated scene (e.g. a living room, kitchen, café). Multiple objects are present. Three draggable labels sit at the bottom: der / die / das.

The user picks any object they want, drags the correct article label onto it, and it sticks — like a sticky note. They move at their own pace, labeling as many objects as they choose.

A subtle completion counter (e.g. "7/12 labeled") shows progress without adding pressure.

Why freeform, not guided?

Guided flows force users through a fixed order. Freeform mirrors how real sticky-note learning works — you notice the lamp, you label the lamp. Self-directed attention is where retention happens.

Tooltip System

Hovering over any object in a scene shows a tooltip with the German noun only (e.g. "Lampe"). The article is never revealed upfront — the user still has to figure it out.

Once the user correctly labels an object, the tooltip updates to show the full form (e.g. "die Lampe") — making correct placement feel like an unlock, not just a score increment.

In Exam Mode, tooltips are disabled entirely.

Feedback System

Correct placement

- Label sticks to object with a soft visual confirmation
- Score and streak increment
- Gentle positive sound

Incorrect placement

- Label returns to tray with a neutral sound
 - No punishment, no negative language
 - After a second wrong attempt: a subtle category-based hint appears

Game Modes

Mode	Description
------	-------------

Chill No timer, freeform exploration. Default mode.

Focus Timed rounds for faster recall practice

Exam Strict scoring, no hints

Thematic Worlds (Scenes)

Each world is a full illustrated scene with multiple labelable objects:

- 🏠 Living Room
- 🔍 Kitchen
- ☕ Café
- 🚗 Street
- 💻 Office

New worlds unlock as the user progresses.

Streak & Progression

- Consecutive correct labels build a streak
 - Milestones trigger soft celebrations (no pressure on streak breaks)
 - XP earned per correct label
 - Weak nouns reappear more frequently across sessions

Progress Tracking

- Accuracy per noun category
 - Mistake history (surfaces weak areas)
 - Mastery visualization (der / die / das balance)
 - Level progression across worlds

Personality Layer (committed feature, not optional)

Each article has a character voice — used sparingly for milestone moments:

- "Der approves 👍"
- "Die agrees 🌿"
- "Das is proud ✨"

This gives the product a distinct voice and makes grammar feel less clinical.

Design Principles

- Learn by doing, not memorizing
 - Feedback guides, never punishes
 - Agency over structure — users choose their own path through a scene
 - Curiosity over pressure — no default timers, no anxiety mechanics
 - Visual memory over text — scenes, not flashcards

What's Out of Scope (v1)

- Voice input
 - Multiplayer
 - AI-generated scenes
 - Spaced repetition system (SRS)
 - User-generated content

Success Metrics

Metric		Target
Session duration	> 5 min
D7 retention	> 35%
Avg streak length	≥ 4
Accuracy improvement	Measurable per user over time
Repeat error reduction	Same noun categories improve across sessions
